Lois Marie Gibbs,

CHEJ Executive Director

In 1978, Lois founded the Love Canal Homeowners' Association, and CHEJ in 1981.

Her vision has guided our efforts to provide critical organizing and technical assistance to communities engaged in their own environmental struggles. Lois sits on numerous Boards and Advisory Committees. She is the recipient of an honorary Doctorates from SUNY at Cortland, Haverford College in May 2006, Green Mountain College 2009 and Medaille College in 2010. Received the 1990 Goldman Environmental Prize, the 1998 Heinz Award, and the 1999 John Gardner Leadership Award from Independent Sector.

Toxic Waste from polluting industry made the Love Canal community of upstate NY uninhabitable. Now communities in NC are being threatened by hydraulic fracturing, which will leave a toxic legacy that we simply can't afford. No Fracking Way!
